

Oesophageal foreign body

Oesophageal foreign body in a dog

3yo, MN, Yorkshire Terrier

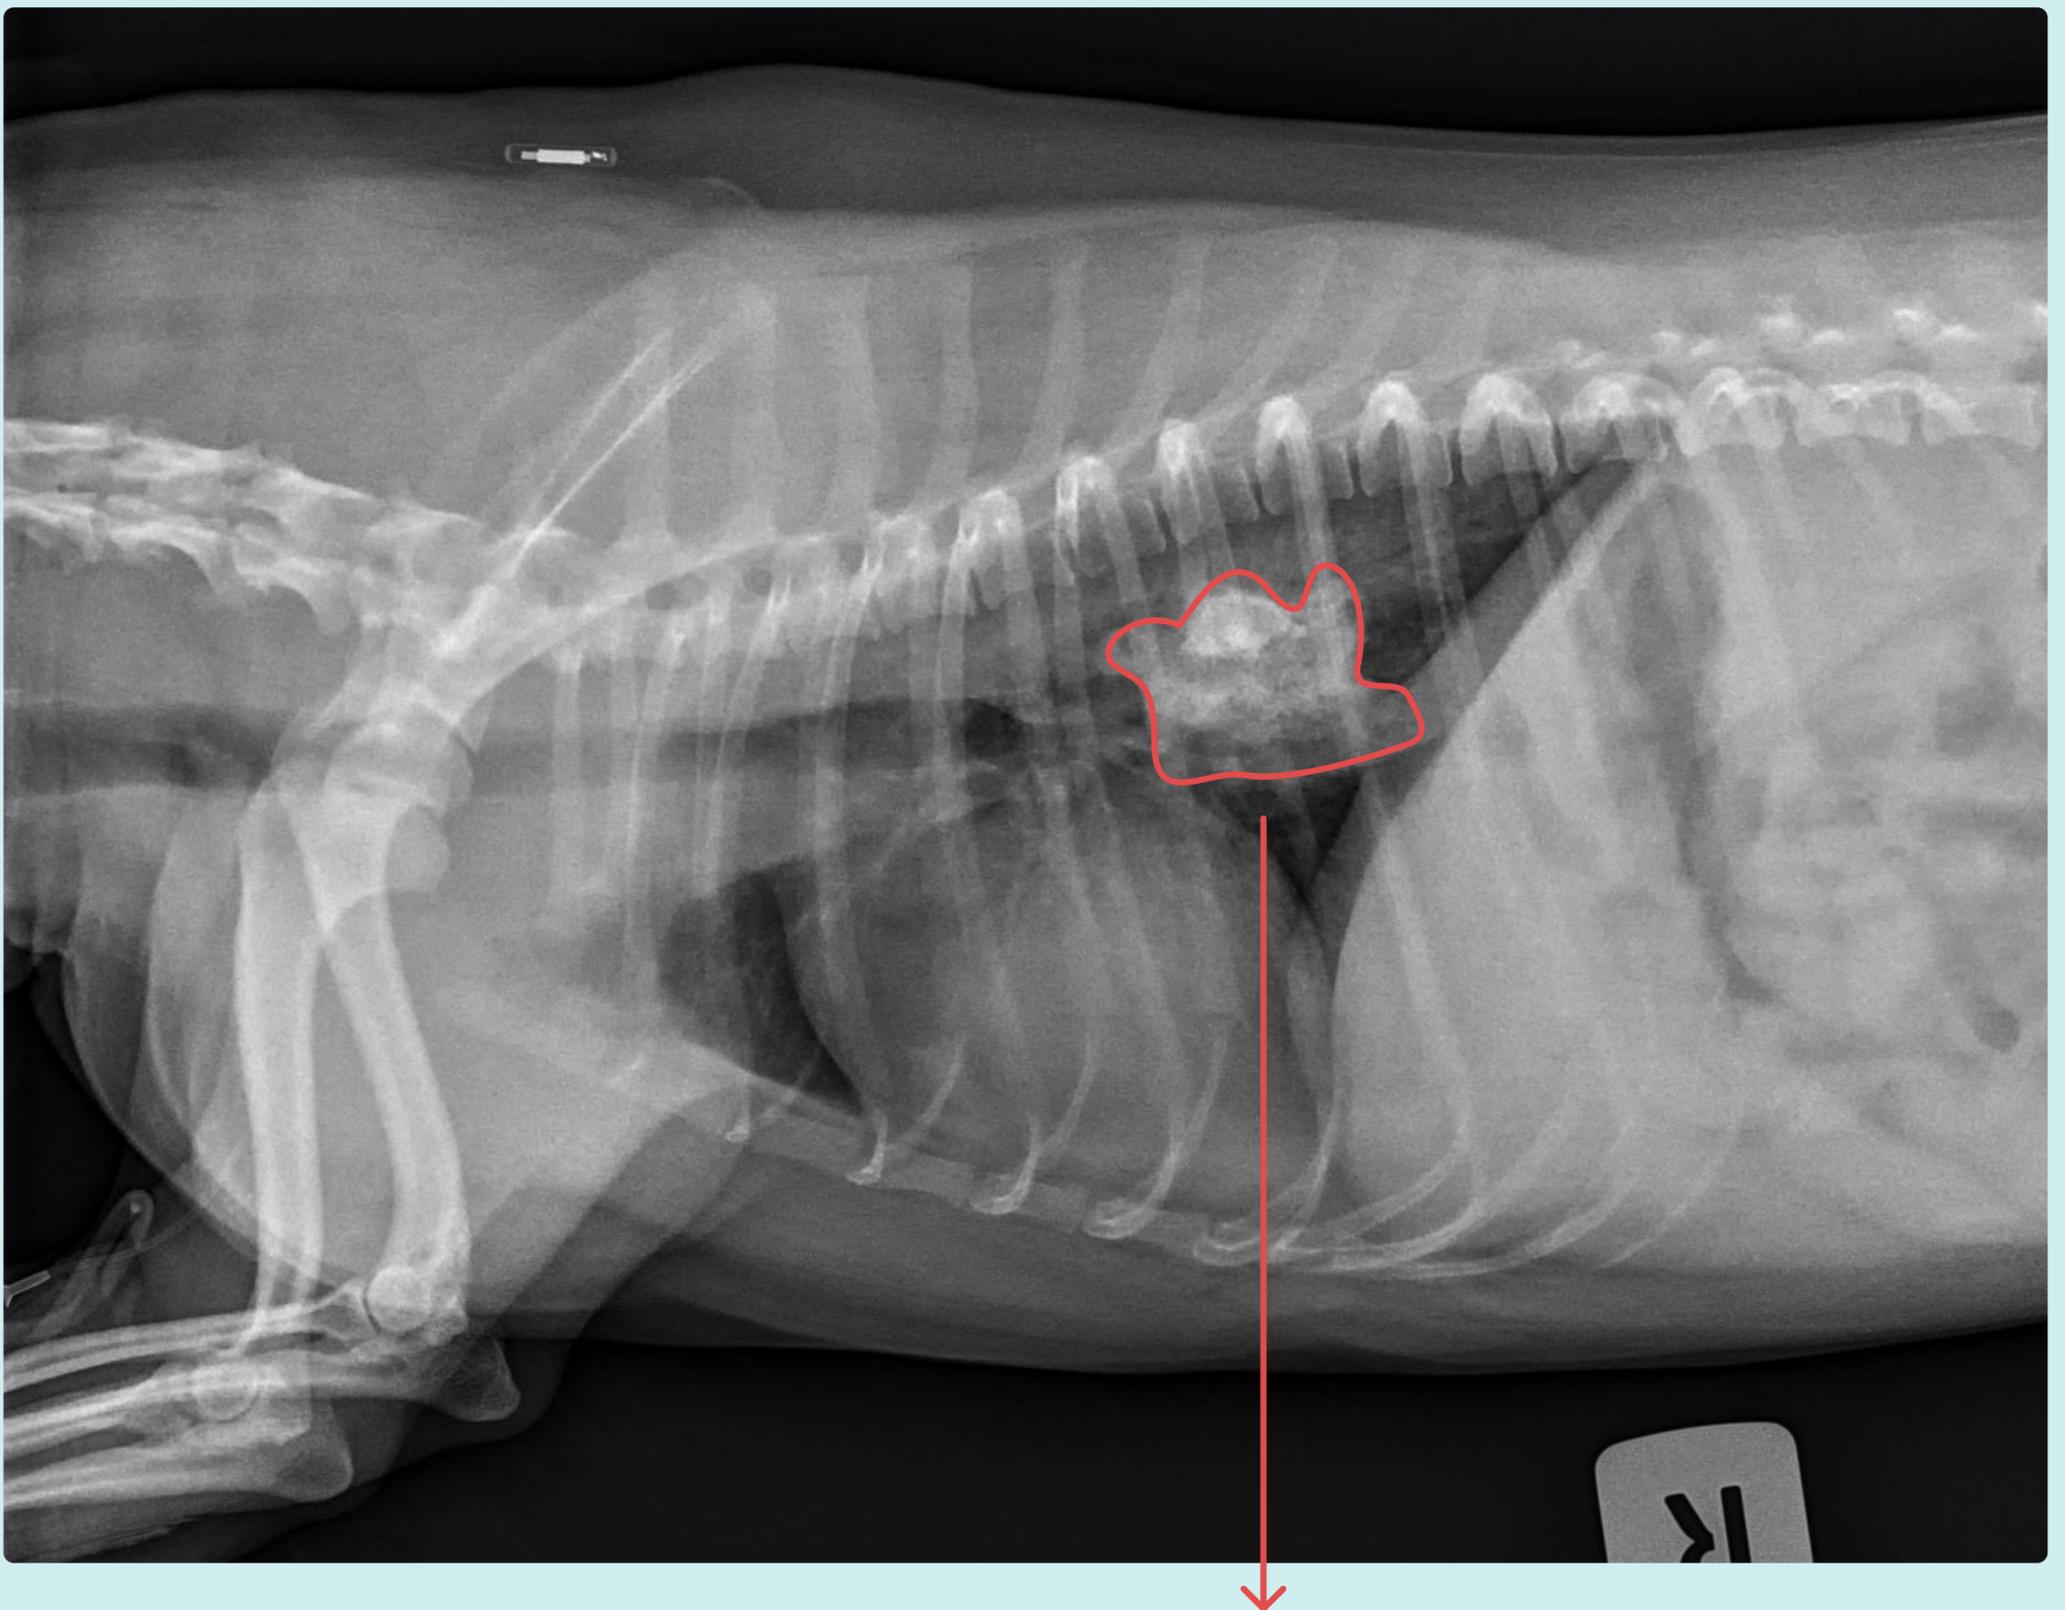

A lamb vertebrae stuck in the lower oesophagus, caudal to the base of the cardiac silhouette. An attempt at endoscopic removal was made leading to bilateral iatrogenic pneumothorax, secondary to an oesophageal perforation.

Oesophageal foreign body in a dog

3yo, MN, Yorkshire Terrier

A lamb vertebrae stuck in the lower oesophagus, caudal to the base of the cardiac silhouette. An attempt at endoscopic removal was made leading to bilateral iatrogenic pneumothorax, secondary to an oesophageal perforation.

Foreign body (lamb vertebrae)
within the lower oesophagus

Iatrogenic pneumothorax in a dog

3yo, MN, Yorkshire Terrier

This patient developed an oesophageal perforation during endoscopic retrieval of a foreign body and subsequently underwent thoracotomy with oesophageal repair.

Iatrogenic pneumothorax in a dog

3yo, MN, Yorkshire Terrier

This patient developed an oesophageal perforation during endoscopic retrieval of a foreign body and subsequently underwent thoracotomy with oesophageal repair.

